

Patrick Ahearn

Grand Country House is an intimate, historically inspired country home that celebrates the natural topography and arborous nature of its site. Although the home is newly constructed, it looks and feels as though it has stood for a long time, rooted in its site and in scale with its surroundings. The past is echoed through the use of the rusticated "swirl" rough sawn siding...

READ THE FULL STORY...

